Jana Barber Joins Pinnacle as New Foundation Director

SEATTLE – Pinnacle, an international real estate management firm, recently hired Jana Barber to direct the Pinnacle Foundation. In this role, Barber will be responsible for the planning, coordination and implementation of all Pinnacle Foundation activities. Barber’s main focus will be to increase employee awareness of the Pinnacle Foundation and build the framework to establish the Foundation as an employee-led, non-profit organization.

“We are very excited about Jana’s appointment. She will play an integral role in the company’s charitable giving efforts,” said Pinnacle President Rick Graf. “Through her, we aim to formalize Pinnacle’s charitable contributions and increase employee involvement so that ultimately, Pinnacle employees will lead the Foundation and determine our funding focus.”

Barber has over 20 years experience in the marketing field, most notably in positions with AT&T Wireless and Weyerhaeuser Company. While at AT&T, Barber served on the AT&T Cares committee that reviewed and awarded grants to non-profits. At Weyerhaeuser, she partnered with employees to establish Weyerhaeuser Active Volunteer Employees, which is still in existence today. In addition, Barber has served on several boards, chairing strategic and capital planning and development efforts as well as leading and organizing successful fundraising events.

Barber earned a Bachelor of Arts in Communications from Washington State University and a Masters of Science in Management from Antioch University.
